INT. USS TRITON - COMMAND BRIDGE - NIGHT

Emergency crimson battle lanterns bathe the cramped steel bridge. Water trickles past riveted bulkheads. Depth gauge reads: 1,400 METERS.

CAPTAIN REID
(gripping the periscope console)
Chief, tell me that sonar contact is a blue whale.

CHIEF O'MALLEY
No whale moves at sixty knots, Captain. It just changed depth. It is ascending directly beneath our keel.
